Actions Required

Where patients have insufficient supplies of nabumetone tablets to last until the re-supply date, clinicians/prescribers should:

- review patients to determine if continued analgesia is still required and if so, whether treatment with a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID) remains appropriate.
  - If NSAID treatment is considered appropriate, either;
    - consider prescribing unlicensed imports if nabumetone is indicated. Prescribers should work with local pharmacy teams to ensure orders are placed within appropriate time frames as lead times may vary (see supporting information below); or
    - consider an alternative NSAID treatment option (see supporting information below)
- if the above options are not considered appropriate, refer to BNF for consideration of other analgesics.
