How can we as CCG nurses support our Practices Nurses?

We want to know how we can support our Practice nurses.

In the first instance we would like to host a virtual session to answer any questions you may have around Covid and any additional support you may find helpful. We fully recognise the challenges and innovative ways you have been working.

It feels like there is so much information coming through emails – so a virtual get together can be a great opportunity to provide an update and share any concerns or questions. No question is a daft question.

We will be in touch regarding a date and time in the next 2 weeks to set this up.

The Courage of Compassion- Supporting nurses and midwives to deliver high- quality care

The Kings Fund have published a report aim to showing how to transform nurses' and midwives' workplaces so that they can thrive and flourish and are better able to provide the compassionate, high-quality care that they and those they serve wish them to deliver. The report examines the workplace stressors, organisational cultures, working contexts and leadership styles that impact on nurse and midwife wellbeing and mental health, both before and during Covid-19. It sets out how these can be changed to provide dramatically improved working environments and contexts for nursing and midwifery practice, thereby benefiting nurses, midwives, patients, women, families and communities.

The report's scope covers all nursing and midwifery staff and students, including healthcare assistants and nursing associates. It spans all four UK countries, all types of employer (including the NHS, GP practices, local authorities and the independent sector), all areas of practice and all care settings where nursing and midwifery staff operate, including primary care, secondary care, mental health, community care and social care.

The Kings Fund logo, featuring the text "TheKingsFund" in white on a dark purple background, followed by the tagline "Ideas that change health and care" in a smaller font.
