

Research Opportunities for the Care Sector

March 2022

Defining and Measuring Safety in Older Adult's Care Homes

There has been a numbers of campaigns and programmes over the last 20 years with a focus on monitoring safety in care homes. It remains unknown how well these approaches work together to bring change within health and social care organisations. Care home managers and care workers are invited to join the study.

Participation will involve an interview by telephone or online. You will receive a certificate of participation for the home and a £20 gift voucher for anyone taking part in the interview as a thank you. To register an interest place contact:

n.j.smith@kent.ac.uk

Skyline Study

Currently in setup at Foss Park Hospital in York and will be recruiting adults age 60+ who are cognitively unimpaired to receive either study drug or treatment to prevent the onset of Alzheimer's Disease. Interested providers can contact sam.varo@nhs.net who will pass details to TEWV.

Care Homes and Domiciliary Care

ClimaCare Research Project

This study is looking into the impact of climate change, in particular at how to mitigate the impact of rising temperatures and overheating. The project has almost 40 care homes already participating, and is remotely monitoring the indoor environment and the response of residents and staff. There are still have vacancies for interested services - any care home in England can participate. You will receive tailored advice from international experts on how to improve your resilience in hot weather and heat waves. Further information is available here, and if you are interested in taking part please email April Cole at CQC (April.cole@cqc.org.uk) or Professor Rajat Gupta at Oxford Brookes University (rgupta@brookes.ac.uk).

ENRICH- Enabling Research in Care Homes

To receive communications about research trials you may be interested in (including questionnaires, interviews and interventions) all care homes can join the ENRiCH register through this link.

Join Dementia Research

Any individual can register for Join Dementia Research, which is a partnership between NIHR and Alzheimer's Society. This is a database where people can register their interest in taking part in dementia research, contributing to our understanding of the disease and how we can manage it.

