Legacy Mentor Opportunity for Registered Managers

Legacy mentors are experienced individuals who provide coaching, mentoring and pastoral support to defined groups of individuals. They provide essential professional advice, education and guidance and pass on a 'legacy' to the next generation. They play a crucial role in supporting staff health and wellbeing and career progression. You will have recently seen information about the exciting new Legacy Nursing Mentoring Programme that we have launched in North Yorkshire and York.

In addition to this, we are now also delighted to share with you that we have been able to secure one year's funding to develop a pilot mentoring programme support to Registered Managers working within nursing home settings; again, the very first legacy pilot for Registered Managers working in nursing home settings in the UK. Jayne Richardson has been appointed as the Registered Manager Legacy Mentor (North Yorkshire and York) and will be keen to get started when she commences in post in October 2023.

We are now inviting Registered Managers from nursing homes across North Yorkshire and York to submit expressions of interest to join the Legacy Mentoring programme. An expression of interest form is available through this link, completed forms should be return to Nichola.Greenwood1@nhs.net by no later than 31st October 2023.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to get in touch. A set of frequently asked questions can be found through this link.

Cold Weather and Health: Supporting Vulnerable People

The UK Health Security Agency has published information to assist professionals in protecting vulnerable people from the health impacts of cold weather in England. This guidance offers advice for caring for people most at risk during cold weather. It is part of a wider collection of documents providing guidance on how to minimise the health effects of adverse weather and to build community resilience.

Nursing Times Awards 2023- Judgment Day

Earlier in the month, Michelle Carrington, Charlotte Collister and Sam Varo travelled to London to present to the judging panel for this years Nursing Times Awards where we have been shortlisted in the Nursing in Social Care category for both Improving Hydration in Care Home Residents and North Yorkshire and York Care Provider Olympics. The day was a fantastic opportunity to share and celebrate the pioneering work led by care teams across North Yorkshire and York to support resident safety and health in wellbeing for those in their care by preventing hydration related harms, and getting moving and active together. Thank you to all those providers who have taken part in either initiative and made them success a success, through your hard work to embedded the learning from these programmes to put the prevention agenda at the heart of all we do. The next stage is the awards ceremony on 25 October where we will discover our 2023 champions!

DHSC Launch National Online Survey to Seek Women's Views on Reproductive Health

Women across England are being encouraged to help shape future reproductive health policy by sharing their experiences of a range of issues, as the government launches a new landmark survey. Delivering on a key commitment in the Women's Health Strategy, the Women's Reproductive Health Survey will seek women's views across England on issues including periods, contraception, fertility, pregnancy and the menopause.

Findings from the survey will then be used to better understand women's reproductive health experiences over time. The vital information gathered about the lives and experiences of women will inform current and future government decision-making and health policy.
