Relaunch

Temporary management of newly found wounds and use of wound dressing boxes in residential care homes.

Skin tears and other traumatic acute wounds increase with the ageing population and the associated physiological skin changes. They are known to cause significant pain and affect quality of life of residents. These types of wounds occur mainly on the arms and legs and respond well to early intervention. Being able to immediately manage and cover a wound can save time and resources and improve treatment outcomes.

The wound care project has been developed with Immedicare, to support staff in residential homes to care for residents with a newly found wound. This initiative reduces potential risk and delay of treatment to residents, by enabling care staff to safely cover the wound using an appropriate dressing. It will standardise safe and effective advice, management and documentation of newly found wounds in a residential care home setting.

Each care home has been provided with a wound care box by the district nursing team containing a selection of simple dressings. Replacement dressings can be obtained by contacting the district nursing team via their Single Point of Access (SPA).

Immedicare will provide video support and guidance and as the first question Immedicare will ask is 'Do you have a wound dressing box', it is important everyone knows where the box is kept within your care home. Immedicare will contact the district nursing team to update them on the care provided and request a follow up visit from the district nurse team if required.

In addition, each care home will require designated staff to act as "champions" to promote appropriate use of the wound dressing boxes. Please can you ask for volunteers to become champions within your care home?

UPDATES FROM CITY OF YORK COUNCIL

The government has recently published guidance for 2025 around hot weather and supporting the vulnerable populations in our community. The link below takes you to the guidance developed specifically for social care managers, staff, and carers.

Resilience-based Clinical Supervision

A fully funded programme for registered nurses and nurse associates in social care in England.

Does work overwhelm you at times? Would you like to have better conversations with your colleagues about situations which occur at work but don't know how? Resilience-based Clinical Supervision (RBCS) is a way of supporting you and your team by recognising your own and others' emotions and how you can positively respond to them. RBCS is a tried and trusted model with the rationale to increase an individual's ability to respond positively to the emotional and physiological demands of their role. Resilience-based Clinical Supervision is not management supervision or appraisal, it is a form of restorative clinical supervision.

Interested? Programmes consist of 5 sessions: 3 x 3 hours and 2 x 2 hours over a period of 8-12 weeks 8 people at the online sessions

New guideline to help cut falls

As well as making recommendations on hazards in a person's home, our updated guideline also covers residential care homes, hospitals and other healthcare settings in the community.

It recommends that people, including those in hospital and residential care, are encouraged to remain active, unless they have been advised not to.

The Adult Social Care Nursing Team provide falls prevention training, if you would like more information please email the team hnyicb-voy.yorkplacenursingteam@nhs.net

UPDATES FROM INFECTION PREVENTION CONTROL

The number of patients with norovirus in hospitals is the highest it has ever been at this time of year and a large number of care homes in our area are closed due to norovirus. Please find a link below to a 'Norovirus alert' for North Yorkshire and York:

<https://www.infectionpreventioncontrol.co.uk/news/ipc-bulletin-for-care-homes/>

Please see full bulletin on the following page.

IPC Bulletin for Care Homes

Issue No. 58- April 2025 North Yorkshire and York Edition

Produced by an NHS Community Infection Prevention and Control Team based in North Yorkshire for distribution to subscribers.

North Yorkshire and York Norovirus Alert

The number of patients with norovirus in hospitals is the highest it has ever been at this time of year and a large number of care homes in our area are closed due to norovirus. Norovirus is highly infectious requiring only a few viral particles to cause an infection. A person can spread the infection before their symptoms appear, whilst they are symptomatic and up to 72 hours after symptoms have resolved. Some people have minimal symptoms and do not report it, but they too can spread norovirus to others.

The following guidance is aimed to limit the spread of infection between hospital and care homes as both these care settings have people who are particularly vulnerable to infection.

When a resident is clinically ready for discharge from hospital

Resident was admitted to hospital during a norovirus outbreak in the care home	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Okay to discharge back to the care home as already exposed to the virus
Resident is not in a closed bay, but the ward does have other bays closed	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Staff can visit to assess the resident's suitability for the care home • Okay to discharge to the care home
Resident is in a closed bay, has had norovirus and is now 72 hours symptom free	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If facilities allow, these residents should be taken to a non-affected area to allow staff to visit to assess suitability for discharge to the Care Home • Okay to discharge to the care home
Resident is in a closed bay and either not had norovirus or currently symptomatic	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Generally, should not be discharged until the bay has reopened • However, can be assessed on an individual basis and isolated in the care home for 72 hours

Admitting residents to hospital during a care home outbreak

- If possible, defer the transfer until the outbreak has been declared over
- If a resident requires hospital admission, you must inform the hospital and ambulance/transport service that the care home has an outbreak, even if the resident does not have any symptoms
- Complete a patient passport or Inter-health and social care infection control transfer Form for all transfers. It should clearly state whether the resident presents an infection risk or not. A transfer Form is available to download at www.infectionpreventioncontrol.co.uk/resources/inter-health-and-social-care-infection-control-transfer-form/

UPDATES FROM SKILLS FOR CARE

Quality Assured Care Learning Service

The Quality Assured Care Learning Service (QACLS) reviews the quality of courses and qualifications to ensure they meet the needs of the adult social care sector. We have created a range of guidance and resources to help training providers through the application process. As we move into our second year of the service, we are now encouraging applications from training providers at any time.

Find out more about QACLS here

Updated Care Certificate standards

The Care Certificate Standards have been updated to align with sector developments and the introduction of the Level 2 Adult Social Care Certificate qualification.

A self-assessment tool and an assessor and employer guide are available to support the standards. There is also a summary of the updates and a set of FAQs.

The Care Certificate standards define the knowledge, skills and behaviours expected of specific job roles in health and social care. They can be used to inform what information is covered during induction.

The 2015 Care Certificate standards and resources will be available to support employers in transitioning to the updated 2025 Care Certificate standards until the end of July 2025.

See the updated standards here

Updates to the Care Workforce Pathway

The Care Workforce Pathway is a comprehensive framework designed to clearly define careers in adult social care, detailing the knowledge, skills, values, and behaviours essential for delivering high-quality, personalised care and support.

We've been working in partnership with the Department of Health and Social Care (DHSC) to develop the role categories within the pathway. DHSC have now launched the remainder of these role categories. Alongside this, we've launched a suite of practical resources to help care providers use the pathway in their organisations. These resources will guide you through the options for adopting the pathway.

New medicines management resources

We've created a webpage to host our resources and support for adult social care providers with medicines management. You'll find new medicines management guidance and checklists, developed to support care providers to assess their medicines management education and training to ensure that it is safe and effective. The page also includes signposting and advice for meeting CQC expectations in this area.

Support for leaders and managers Moving up programme

You can now book a place on the September cohort of our popular Moving Up programme. It supports Black and Asian managers or aspiring managers in health and social care to overcome challenges and progress their career.

The programme gives participants an increased understanding of who they are, their strengths and weaknesses and techniques to help overcome any personal challenges. It focuses on increasing confidence and self-belief, to allow people to grow.

The programme starts on 17 September 2025. Registration closes on 29 August 2025.

Celebrating social care nursing on International Nurses Day Monday 12 May 2025 | 11:00 – 12:30 | Online

This online event will be a celebration of all things adult social care nursing, with people who draw on care and support from all fields of practice. You'll hear from Deborah Sturdy the Chief Nurse for Adult Social Care as well as people with lived experience and those working in the sector. Whether you're an adult nurse, mental health nurse, children's nurse, or a nursing associate working in adult social care this session is for you. This is an opportunity to come together and leave with a shared value of nursing in social care.

Over 15,000 CQC-regulated care providers are using the Adult Social Care Workforce Data Set (ASC-WDS) to improve their businesses and drive sector change. Recently, the workforce data for adult social services departments in England became Accredited Official Statistics. ASC-WDS is the leading source of workforce intelligence for adult social care, supporting CQC, DHSC, and government planning. It's free to use, with over 50% of CQC-regulated providers benefiting by influencing policy, recording staff qualifications, and accessing funding through the Learning and Development Support Scheme. ASC-WDS also allows providers to benchmark themselves against Good and Outstanding care providers. It's a valuable tool for managing training and improving care quality.

Data duplication survey

As part of Department of Health and Social Care's (DHSC) ambitions to streamline data requests to Adult Social Care Providers, the DHSC Adult Social Care Data Policy Team have launched the Data Duplication Survey on Capacity Tracker.

The survey seeks home care and care home provider insight into external requests they receive for data and information that is already available and up-to-date on Capacity Tracker. The survey has been produced in consultation with provider representatives. Their feedback has helped streamline a set of survey questions purposely developed to only take a few minutes of your time.

Every response will help to ensure the results are as representative as possible. Analysis of the results will be made available on Capacity Tracker.

The results will help identify the scope and scale of any duplicative requests for data already submitted through Capacity Tracker, and inform next steps in collaboration with sector partners to ensure all possible time efficiency savings from Capacity Tracker are realised for care providers and the wider sector.

If you have any questions about the survey, please email ascdataatransformation@dhsc.gov.uk

LEARNING & DEVELOPMENT

Digital skills eLearning modules

We've developed a suite of free-to-access 'bitesize' digital skills eLearning modules, in line with the Digital Skills Framework. The modules are designed to support people working in adult social care to gain knowledge and understanding on how digital, data and technology is used in the sector. The titles and themes of these seven modules are:

- using technology to support person-centred care
- technical skills in using technology
- communicating through technology
- using and managing data
- being safe and secure online
- ethical use of technology
- digital learning, development, and wellbeing.
